Recommendation

To the PCAFPD Selection Committee,

It is my pleasure to recommend Zarah Angela E. Torres for your scholarship program. Having taught Zarah in her Grade 11 Mathematics classes, I have had the opportunity to observe her academic growth, strong work ethic, and commendable character firsthand over the past two years.

Zarah is a diligent, focused, and high-achieving student. As a consistent honor student, she demonstrates a remarkable commitment to her education. She actively strives to master challenging concepts and consistently submits quality work on time. Beyond her academic performance, Zarah is an active participant in various school clubs and extracurricular activities, demonstrating strong initiative, teamwork, and engagement within the school community.

What truly distinguishes Zarah is her strong-willed determination and resilience. Regardless of the daily challenges and struggles she faces, her eagerness to learn and excel never wavers. She approaches every obstacle with grace and perseverance, serving as an inspiring example to her peers.

Specifically, Zarah has shown impressive initiative as an editorial writer for our campus journalism publication and in leading complex STEM research projects. Her ability to balance demanding academic work with active leadership roles makes her uniquely qualified for this award. Given her academic merit, perseverance, and drive to succeed, I am confident that Zarah will maximize this opportunity. Awarding her this scholarship will provide crucial financial support to her and her family, paving the way for a brighter future. I recommend Zarah Angela E. Torres without reservation and fully support her application.
