Recommendation

Dear PCAFPD,

I am writing to wholeheartedly recommend Zafirah Zaynah Puno for admission to your Scholarship Program. Zafirah has been my student for 4 years and have personally witnessed her dedication and hard work in maintaining high grades under my subjects (namely Music & Arts, Contemporary Art, and Research Writing), while balancing her time between volunteer work as a church choir member and teacher aid to street kids in impoverished areas of San Pedro.

Zaf, as she is fondly called by many, is an innovative student with great leadership and interpersonal skills. Her artistic skills on her first year under my Music & Arts subject have developed quite well considering the adjustments that she had to do as a transferee in our school. She is reliable, a good communicator, and is not afraid to go beyond expectations in collaborative tasks.

Zaf has a thirst for knowledge and is goal oriented. She has achieved the Notable Topic for her Practical Research 1 subject and the Best Research Paper Award for her Practical Research 2 subject under my class. Zaf never settles for less and will always seek counsel on how she can do better and achieve higher, thus rewarding her hard work with these awards. Beyond the classroom, Zaf is also passionate in sharing her musical skills by volunteering to sing in the church choir, and teach Bible stories to out-of-school youths in San Pedro during Saturdays.

I am confident that Zaf's goals and plans for herself will take her to great heights. Her love for learning, leadership qualities, and sense of responsibility towards those in need are characteristics that I have personally witnessed and appreciate of her.

I believe that by admitting Zaf to your Scholarship Program, she will greatly contribute to your growing roster of scholars who are potential agents of change in our country. Her academic achievements, love for God, and passion for learning not only speaks volumes but are qualities that are worth investing on.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information

Sincerely,

Mrs. Cher Steffie A. Daracan
