Recommendation

PCAFPD scholars are chosen on the basis of their financial need, academic performance, and commitment to community service and leadership. As the applicant's reference, please describe the applicant's demonstrated leadership skills, accomplishments, and impacts on your community and any other relevant information you feel the committee should know about the applicant.

Ms. Dymosco has been my learner at Mapúa Malayan Digital College for the last three terms or a total of twelve months for five different courses. During this time, she has demonstrated her leadership when she was assigned to groups. When her group would encounter challenges, she would sort them out with her group mates through proper communication and would ask me for advice when needed. She also has the initiative of delegating tasks for herself and her group mates according to their respective strengths and aspects for improvement. During our classes, she is very active, participating in discussions as well as asking questions. She is always confident to raise questions and provide her insights both in class and through mentoring sessions. In terms of her academic performance, she has consistently received excellent marks for my courses. She is very conscious with her grades and would regularly ask me how she is doing in my classes. I can see how important her studies are for her. She is a very responsible and diligent learner. Her work ethic is plausible as it also inspires her classmates and the individuals she gets to work with. When she is given a task, she would find ways on how it can be done. She is also not afraid to ask for help and to extend a lending hand for others who are in need.
