Recommendation

It is with great pleasure to endorse Mr. Jhon Gabriel M. Dejumo as an applicant for this career avenue. As his former college instructor, I had the opportunity to observe and mold his character, skills, and potential. He has continuously shown remarkable traits that make him a qualified candidate for this scholarship.

Moreover, Mr. Dejumo is an individual who is well-driven by his career goals and who always exhibits his eagerness to learn and strong will to expand his knowledge which helped him succeed academically. His in-depth standpoints, emotional growth, and valuable life experiences contributed a constructive influence to the class discussions. Also, he inclusively engages and delves into diverse viewpoints which helps in building a good rapport in his social group.

Outside the corners of the university, Mr. Dejumo utilizes his gift of music to contribute in his community. He volunteers as a performer with the San Pablo City Musician Guild to conduct busking events to extend their support to their targeted beneficiaries. His interest and passion in music are set to a bigger purpose that reflects his deep sense of social responsibility. Also, he actively participates in his community organization in creating environmental projects to raise awareness and promote sustainability.

Being catered with intelligence and a gift of talent, he keeps a humble disposition in his social environment. His positive character is a significant pillar in establishing holistic growth and unleashing his full potential. I believe that he will succeed in any of his future endeavors as he is equipped to be part of this academic opportunity.

Sincerely,

Julie Ann P. Bagasbas
