Recommendation

PCAFPD scholars are chosen on the basis of their financial need, academic performance, and commitment to community service and leadership. As the applicant's reference, please describe the applicant's demonstrated leadership skills, accomplishments, and impacts on your community and any other relevant information you feel the committee should know about the applicant.

Deborah Carihl is a third-year Civil Engineering student and one of my advisees. Among her peers, Deborah stands out as a promising, intelligent, and consistently high-achieving student. She excels in her academics, demonstrating both diligence and strong performance in all her classes. Beyond her intellectual abilities, she possesses excellent leadership skills and consistently shows initiative, often stepping up to help others with a calm and focused presence.

In addition to her outstanding academic performance, Deborah is also an active officer in our college's student organization. I have witnessed her take on leadership roles across various college events and activities, proving herself as a reliable and committed team player. Her work in the Projects and Development Committee was instrumental in establishing the Outdoor Student Learning Area, which has provided students with an accessible space for learning outside the main college building. During our intramural events, Deborah contributed greatly, particularly in supporting the Literary Competitions. She frequently uses her artistic talents for projects involving props, costume design, and crafting, showing both creativity and dedication.

Together with the organization's officers, Deborah has also played a vital role in providing support to fellow students—financial aid, academic guidance, and emotional support—through the college's initiatives, helping countless future engineers.

As her adviser, I strongly recommend Deborah for the PCAFPD scholarship. I am confident that with this opportunity, she will not only continue to thrive but will contribute even more significantly to the college and the community. Her potential is remarkable, and I am certain that with added support, she will accomplish great things.
