Recommendation

Ms. Alexia C. Balaba has been my student under the Bachelor of Arts in English Language Studies (BAELS) program at Cavite State University-Main Campus for almost four (4) years. As my student, she has demonstrated her excellence in most of the curricular and co-curricular activities in the campus. She has been an active officer of the Pragmaticus, the official student organization of their academic program. Likewise, she has been participating in various extension activities spearheaded by the Department of Humanities of the College of Arts and Sciences. She has also shown excellent verbal and written communication skills in her major field. Her interests include research/academic writing and text interpretation. She is creative and resourceful in most of the tasks given to her.

With her potentials, I believe that Ms. Balaba could be highly qualified to be a PCAFPD scholar and soon serve various communities.
