Recommendation for Christian C. Cabada

I, a barangay chairman of Christian Cabada, support him as a worthy candidate for the PCAFPD scholarship. Since he was young, I have been a barangay official until I became a barangay captain. I saw how great he is as a leader, as a student, and how he is hardworking when it comes to serving his community.

Christian belongs to a family where income is not enough and need to borrow money in neighbors because supporting 3 dependents. Regardless of these limitations, he has been a very strong academic performer and has shown enormous personal tenacity. The availability of the scholarship granted by the PCAFPD will highly reduce the burden that would be placed on him financially, whereby he will be able to concentrate on his studies and the welfare of the community.

Christian was raised in a family where his father is a small scale farmer and his mother is a housewife. He has two siblings. He works during school breaks or holidays to support himself occasionally in school. But this year he stopped studying because during the summer break after the school year, he was diagnosed with acute appendicitis, which required an emergency operation, so his family incurred a lot of expenses, especially since he was admitted to a private hospital. That's why he stopped studying, as they fell into debt, and he has a sibling who is also studying in college. He really needs it even though he is studying at a public university with free tuition because living expenses, boarding house monthly dues, and transportation allowances cannot be avoided since his school is far away.

Christian has consistently demonstrated outstanding leadership skills, like joining the boys' scouts in our elementary school and being one of the trusted ones when they participated against other schools. He also joined the Christian Youth Fellowship seminar about good leadership. He was an officer in the whole elementary school and led a clean-up drive in our community.

Christian maintains an impressive academic record throughout his academic career from daycare to high school: daycare third honorable mention; elementary from grades 1 to 6 most active because he was active in every activity in elementary school. Graduate in elementary with honor and rank 6. High School with honors from junior high to senior high and rank 1 in their classroom during grade 12.

Volunteered in tree planting during summer camp here in our barangay. Volunteered. Help the elementary students about their academic problems. Active in every event in our barangay, especially during the anniversary of our barangay and the assembly of our barangay.

Help elementary pupils about mathematics and science during the pandemic in his sitio. Help his father in the rice field or in the corn field. For me, that is the biggest accomplishment of his life because he can be able to help his father. Demonstrated exceptional leadership and teamwork skills here in our barangay during summer camp in our church (United Church of Christ in the Philippines). Second runner up during the contest of False Gay, where he impacts the equality of each one. 3rd runner up during the boys scout contest, where he represents his school, Candelaria Elementary School. Representative of barangay Candelaria in the battle of the brains.

His personal qualities first are persistence: overcoming obstacles, setbacks, and frustrations related to financial struggles. Second, time management: managing academic work, other part-time engagements, or other activities in the most effective manner. Third, adaptability: coping with change, especially when calling for support and embracing change whenever it is available.

To be precise, I want you to believe that Christian is worthy of the PCAFPD scholarship. Leadership experience, academic achievement, concern towards community service, and financial need justify him to fit the standards. He is among the young and talented individuals in our barangay, and I support him. That is why I strongly endorse Christian for this distinguished scholarship, and I am sure that he will remain a productive member of our society. That's all. Thank you for reading.
