Recommendation

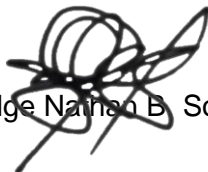

PCAFPD scholars are chosen on the basis of their financial need, academic performance, and commitment to community service and leadership. As the applicant's reference, please describe the applicant's demonstrated leadership skills, accomplishments, and impacts on your community and any other relevant information you feel the committee should know about the applicant.

I have worked with him over the past two years, and Rybelle John showed every potential that made him stand out from the rest of the crowd, being aware of the situations, capable of handling things on his own, and his skills in leadership were showcased as he made PPA's that are not only good to many but good for almost every student. This kid was like a bamboo that grows faster than you can ever expect and a kid that deserves to be called the "JACK OF ALL TRADES".

At 16, the forever eager Rybelle won a seat into position as the head of the Supreme Secondary Learners' Government also known as SSLG, the highest form of student organization at our school. That's an accomplishment in itself because it is a rare for someone so young to assume such a huge leadership position in our school. Despite his age, Rybelle has led the organization with vision, a deep sense of responsibility and his sense of accountability in every activity that crosses in his mind. The leadership him has been very useful in implementing policies at our school that have benefited the greater good, ranging from the WOW- War on Waste Policy to coming up with a uniform that promotes equality in other words a Gender Friendly Uniform that eventually was imposed. He makes his dream a reality.

In addition to his role at school, Rybelle has had enough exposure to leadership development through a wide range of impressive training programs. He went to Division Leadership Training, Municipal Leadership Training, and National Youth Leadership Training, which equipped him with various skills and experience from the best minds. These have perfected his leadership with so much confidence and empathy.

What separates Rybelle, though, is his genuine passion for giving back to society. Indeed, he is one of the youngest Division Federated Officers ever elected, and one can only see and understand just how he has proved that age is not really a barrier to making that difference. His work as a resource speaker for division leadership training has positively affected and inspired not only his classmates but other leaders within the division as well.

The well-rounded nature of student leader Rybelle John is a perfect blend of leadership potential, commitment to community service, and inspiring others to act. Definitely, he will continue to thrive in the future in the leadership roles that he will assume. He is surely a born leader who will achieve the great heights that he aspires for.
