RECOMMENDATION

PCAFPD scholars are chosen based on their financial needs, academic performance, and commitment to community service and leadership. As the applicant's reference, please describe the applicant's demonstrated leadership skills, accomplishments, and impacts on your community and any other relevant information you feel should know about the applicant.

Dear Members of the PCAFPD Scholarship Committee,

It is my distinct pleasure to recommend Alexis Tan for the PCAFPD scholarship. As her former class adviser and Math teacher, I had the opportunity to witness firsthand her growth, achievements, and the unwavering values of community service, leadership, and resilience that define her character. I am confident that she embodies the values that PCAFPD seeks in its scholars. Alexis' journey of resilience and dedication is a testament to her ability to not only overcome challenges but to turn them into opportunities to serve and lead others.

Alexis' commitment to community service was shaped early on by her father, and she soon followed in his footsteps. Her active role in the Rotaract Club of Metro East Caloocan included managing social media, fundraising, and participating in community outreach projects. Observing her in these roles, I saw her dedication to creating positive changes and her talent for engaging others in impactful service initiatives.

In the classroom, Alexis consistently excelled academically, maintaining a place on the Honor Roll for over a decade and graduating with high honors. Her leadership extended beyond academics, taking on roles from campaign manager and class officer to frequently serving as group leader. She also ran as a batch representative twice, undeterred by initial setbacks, demonstrating her commitment to school service and peer support. Recently, Alexis directed and produced short films tackling social issues, such as teenage pregnancy and LGBTQIA+ rights, which are now used to foster discussions within her community. Her accomplishments are not only a testament to her academic and creative talents but also reflect her dedication to addressing the issues that matter to her generation.

What truly sets Alexis apart is her genuine compassion and desire to give back. She is actively involved in projects with different advocacies which she approaches with maturity and empathy that far exceed her years. Her passion for collective action and her determination to create positive change speak volumes about her leadership potential. She is not only a role model among her peers but a promising future leader who strives to make a meaningful impact.

With her impressive academic record, proven leadership, and deep dedication to service, I am confident that Alexis will thrive as a PCAFPD scholar and make significant contributions as a future leader. She deserves this opportunity to continue her education and expand her positive impact. Thank you for considering her application.

Sincerely,

GUILLER JOBERT H. SUAREZ
