Recommendation

It is with great pride and confidence that I recommend Alexi Nicole S. Corpuz. As her class adviser, I have witnessed firsthand her exceptional leadership, academic excellence, and admirable character.

Alexi is a natural leader who commands respect through her dedication and compassion. She capably manages her classmates, even in my absence, and consistently uplifts the morale of everyone in the room. Her strong personality is never intimidating—instead, it inspires and motivates those around her.

Academically, Alexi is among the best. She consistently excels in tests and activities, all while actively participating in class discussions—even during her intensive training in journalism. Her time management skills are exemplary; she knows how to prioritize and strike a balance between her studies and extracurricular commitments.

In the field of journalism, Alexi shines as a true champion. She is not only well-equipped with the necessary skills but also possesses a rare talent that sets her apart.

Overall, Alexi Nicole S. Corpuz is an outstanding student in every aspect—academically, socially, and personally. I highly recommend her for any opportunity she chooses to pursue.
