To the Scholarship Committee,
Peace Corps Alumni Foundation for Philippine Development

Greetings of peace and respect.

I am writing this letter to sincerely request your kind support in considering me for your scholarship program. I am a hardworking and determined student who strongly believes in the power of education to change lives. However, due to my family's difficult financial situation, I am struggling to continue my studies.

My family comes from a very poor background. Despite our struggles, I have never lost hope or stopped working hard. I have always valued education and worked tirelessly to be among the best in class. I am proud to say that I graduated as the Valedictorian of our class, and I am currently pursuing Journalism — a field I am very passionate about. In 2022, I also achieved a great milestone by becoming the Champion in Editorial Writing in the Marawi City Schools Division.

I am not asking for this scholarship simply because of my achievements, but because I truly need your help. My parents cannot afford to pay for my education, and without support, I may be forced to stop chasing my dreams. I am willing to work harder than ever and prove that your investment in me is worth it.

This scholarship would not only give me hope — it would give me the chance to make something of myself and eventually help others who are in the same situation I am in today.

Thank you very much for considering my application. I promise to give my best in everything I do, and to honor the opportunity if given.

With sincere hope and gratitude,
Joharah Y. Jamael
