To The Peace Corps Alumni Foundation for Philippine Development Committee:

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Michelle F. Quiatchon as a candidate for your Undergraduate Scholarship Program.

Upon reading through the criteria of your scholarship, I strongly believe that Michelle is a suitable candidate for it, excelling in her academic pursuits and having a strong passion for serving the community.

Michelle is truly an intelligent and exceptional student academically. In elementary, she graduated as the valedictorian of her batch and having won awards alongside it. In High School, Michelle had been a consistent honor student throughout the years and graduated with High Honors.

Apart from academics, Michelle is a leader. She has the passion for serving both the environment and people alike. She has been active in various projects, including tree planting and community clean-up initiatives. Moreover, I can confidently say that her heart is for the people. Throughout her high school years, Michelle's desire to serve transcended outside her academic institution. She has headed projects including teaching elementary students of a local elementary school (Guihaman-Buntatala Elementary School). There, with passion for service, she taught elementary kids advanced lessons in English, Filipino, mathematics, and science. She also initiated science-experiments and robotics lessons for the children. Moreover, noting the importance of food, she raised funds to provide nutritious meals for the children with each visit. Michelle has also been deeply involved in educational outreach, traveling to various locations to present her research, conduct show-and-tell sessions, and inspire other young minds. Furthermore, building on her commitment to represent an underrepresented sector of the Philippines, Michelle headed on a documentary project showcasing the Sibunag Ati community, a group of indigenous people of Ita community in Liningwan, Sibunag, Guimaras, to advocate for their cultural recognition and human rights. With these initiatives, she has demonstrated her love and passion for leading and serving both the environment and most especially the Filipino people.

Given her remarkable achievements, unwavering dedication to service, and commitment to uplifting others, I have absolutely no reservation in recommending Michelle for the Peace Corps Alumni Foundation for Philippine Development Scholarship. Michelle deserves to be able to go to a university of her choosing and this scholarship will allow her to do so. I fully believe in her potential to uphold and even exceed the standards of your scholarship.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

BONIFICIA J. SOLIVIO
