Recommendation

Dear Members of the PCAFPD Scholarship Committee,

It is with great pride and confidence that I write this recommendation for Ms. Venus Ann Gueco, whom I had the privilege of working closely with during her time as Vice President of the Supreme Student Learner Government (SSLG) at Dapdap High School in the academic year 2024–2025. In my capacity as SSLG President the year prior, I witnessed firsthand the values and work ethic Venus brought to the student body. Her leadership was marked not only by her efficiency and vision, but also by her commitment to creating a more inclusive and service-oriented school environment.

Venus approaches leadership not as a title, but as a responsibility to uplift others. She took initiative in developing student-centered programs that addressed both academic and social needs. Her ability to coordinate with faculty, engage fellow students, and turn ideas into action speaks volumes of her organizational and interpersonal strengths. She consistently acted as a bridge between students and administration, promoting transparency and collaboration in every initiative.

Among her many accomplishments, one that stood out was her involvement in launching mental health support activities within the school. She helped lead efforts to foster awareness, reduce stigma, and promote emotional well-being among students—a clear reflection of her empathetic nature and progressive mindset. Through these actions, Venus demonstrated that leadership is most powerful when rooted in compassion and advocacy.

Venus's academic record complements her leadership qualities. She consistently ranked among the top of her class, showing dedication not only to excellence but also to learning with purpose. She is particularly passionate about education as a means of social mobility and transformation—values that resonate strongly with the mission of the PCAFPD.

What truly distinguishes Venus is her vision for the future. She aspires to become an educator, not merely as a profession, but as a platform for long-term change. She hopes to empower future generations, especially those in underrepresented and disadvantaged communities, by promoting equity in education and civic responsibility. This long-term commitment to nation-building is what makes her an ideal candidate for your scholarship.

I strongly believe that Venus Ann Gueco possesses the character, capability, and conviction to thrive under the PCAFPD Scholarship Program. Her leadership experience, community orientation, and academic integrity embody the kind of future leader your foundation aims to support.

Thank you for considering this exceptional young woman. Should you require further information, please feel free to reach out.

Kind regards,

ASHLEE G. GARCIA
DHS-SSLG President S.Y 2022-2023
