Recommendation.

I am pleased to recommend Princess Niezel Alimpos, a dedicated and committed youth volunteer under the Barangay Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Committee (BDRRMC) 5-A, where I serve as her volunteer supervisor.

Niezel has been part of our community volunteer group for over a year, and she has consistently shown exceptional maturity, resilience, and a strong sense of responsibility. Our work in BDRRMC involves providing immediate assistance during emergencies—whether medical, disaster-related, or in support of rescue operations. In every task assigned, Niezel has shown her eagerness to learn, her discipline, and her willingness to help those in need. She always volunteers her time and energy without expecting anything in return.

What sets Niezel apart is not only her capability but her character. Despite facing personal and financial hardships, she never allowed her circumstances to affect her service. I personally witnessed moments when she would come to our office emotionally overwhelmed by the challenges she was facing—balancing academics, volunteer work, and even selling goods at school to support her daily needs and school projects. Still, she always returned to her duties with even more dedication.

One moment that stayed with me was when she expressed her doubts about being able to attend college due to financial constraints. And yet, despite all odds, she managed to pass the entrance examination and secure a slot in the University of Southeastern Philippines (USEP) as a Bachelor of Physical Education student. That moment was a reflection of who she is—brave, determined, and driven by purpose. Princess Niezel is more than deserving of the PCAFPD scholarship. She has already demonstrated a deep commitment to service, a strong academic foundation, and a resilient spirit that will allow her to thrive in college and beyond.
