Recommendation:

It is with great pride and confidence that I recommend Noel Alexander Q. Correa as a deserving scholar. Throughout my experience working with him, I have witnessed exceptional qualities that make him stand out among peers—not only as a diligent learner but also as an innovative leader.

Noel is consistently full of bright and smart ideas, showing creativity in problem-solving and critical thinking. He has demonstrated the ability to transform these ideas into concrete plans and meaningful actions that benefit both classmates and the larger school community. What makes him remarkable is not just the ability to think outside the box, but also the passion and determination to follow through with every initiative.
