Recommendation

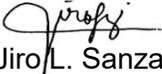

PCAFPD scholars are chosen on the basis of their financial need, academic performance, and commitment to community service and leadership. As the applicant's reference, please describe the applicant's demonstrated leadership skills, accomplishments, and impacts on your community and any other relevant information you feel the committee should know about the applicant.

Description of Leadership Potential and Character of Zach N. Sagoso

Zach N. Sagoso is a very well-rounded student, excelling not only in academics but also in his ability to lead others, particularly his fellow students in the STEM department where he currently serves as president. One of his most commendable traits is his strong sense of initiative. Zach is the kind of leader who does not wait to be told what to do; instead, he recognizes what needs to be done and acts on it promptly. He is also proactive in the planning process, offering valuable suggestions and ideas to improve activities and projects. He does not simply wait for instructions but takes ownership of responsibilities and shows eagerness to be involved in decision-making.

Another notable quality of Zach is his sense of urgency and efficiency. Whenever there are tasks to accomplish, he works on them right away and ensures that they are done effectively. His attention to detail further strengthens his leadership, as he makes sure that no important aspect is overlooked. This quality is a big help to his mentors and peers, especially when there are many tasks to manage.

In terms of character, Zach is a pleasure to work with. He is kind, respectful, and genuinely passionate about what he does. His positive attitude, combined with his initiative and dedication, makes him an outstanding leader and a reliable team player.
