Recommendation

It is my honor to recommend JT Asuncion for the PCAFPD Scholarship. In the time I have known her as a student at The Concord Technical Institute, Inc., I have seen how hardworking, reliable, and sincere she is in everything she does. JT is not the type to seek attention, but her actions speak for her character. She consistently shows initiative, whether in her studies or in her involvement in school activities.

She is often among the first to help whenever teachers or classmates need help, especially during school events and programs. Her willingness to extend her time and effort shows a maturity beyond her age. At the same time, JT works hard to support her own education by selling goods, which demonstrates her determination and resourcefulness. She understands the value of education and does not take opportunities for granted.

Academically, JT performs well in class and carries herself with discipline and respect. She is dependable, responsible, and easy to work with, which has a positive influence on her peers. I am confident that she has the perseverance and commitment needed to succeed as a scholar.

I strongly recommend JT for this scholarship and believe she will continue to excel and give back to her community if given this opportunity.
