Recommendation

I am pleased to recommend my student for the PCAFPD scholarship. I have known the applicant since Grade 10, when I served as their class adviser. Throughout this time, I have witnessed her growth both academically and personally. As her teacher, I have seen how she continues to work hard in her studies, even when facing challenges. She does not give up easily and shows determination to improve herself. This persistence is one of her most admirable qualities.

Beyond academics, she shows leadership and initiative in school organization activities. She participates actively in group work, helps classmates who struggle with emotions, and contributes positively to class projects. Her willingness to serve and support others reflects her genuine responsibility and care for her friends and the community. My student deserves this scholarship because of her academic potential, good character, perseverance, and commitment to helping others. She is respectful, responsible, and willing to participate in school and class activities. Her perseverance, empathy, and good character make her a deserving candidate for this scholarship. With this opportunity, she will continue to grow academically and personally, further her education, and use her strengths to make a meaningful impact in her future and the community.
