Recommendation

I am pleased to recommend Johndel G. Dacut for the PCAFPD Scholarship. I have known Johndel and his family since before the pandemic, when I helped take care of his uncle. Through the years, I have had the opportunity to see Johndel grow and become a responsible and hardworking young man.

One of the qualities I admire most about Johndel is his strong sense of responsibility. He has learned to take on important responsibilities at home and often acts as a dependable figure in his household. Despite the challenges and responsibilities he faces, he continues to pursue his education and work toward building a better future for himself and his family.

Johndel is also a respectful, determined, and caring young man. From what I have observed, he does not easily give up when faced with difficulties. Instead, he tries to find ways to solve problems and continue moving forward. His willingness to take responsibility at a young age reflects his maturity and determination.

I believe that Johndel understands the value of education and the opportunities it can provide. A scholarship would not only help support his education but would also give him greater opportunity to continue developing his abilities and achieving his goals.

I sincerely recommend Johndel G. Dacut for the PCAFPD Scholarship. Based on the years I have known him and the character I have personally observed, I believe he is deserving of consideration and will make good use of the opportunity provided to him.
