Recommendation

I am pleased to recommend Rocelyn Mae V. Martin as a deserving applicant for the PCAFPD Scholarship. As her teacher, I have observed her academic performance, character, leadership, and commitment to her education and community.

Rocelyn is a dedicated and responsible HUMSS student who consistently demonstrates perseverance and commitment to her studies. She achieved a general average of 92 and actively participates in class discussions, group activities, and school responsibilities.

She also demonstrates strong leadership skills by taking initiative, contributing ideas, cooperating with her classmates, and encouraging others to participate. She leads through responsibility, respect, and willingness to help rather than seeking recognition.

Rocelyn comes from a family experiencing financial difficulties. Her mother works hard by selling food and working as a babysitter, while her siblings have limited or unstable sources of income. Despite these challenges, Rocelyn remains determined to pursue her education and achieve her goals.

Her perseverance, academic ability, leadership, and willingness to help others make her a deserving candidate for this scholarship. I strongly recommend Rocelyn Mae V. Martin and believe that this opportunity will help her continue her education and reach her full potential while allowing her to give back to her community in the future.
