Recommendation

I highly recommend Jeddidah Ann Cabarrubias for the Peace Corps Alumni Foundation for Philippine Development (PCAFPD) Scholarship. As her teacher in Pag-aaral ng Kasaysayan at Lipunang Pilipino (History), I observed her not only as a student who participates in class, but also as a young individual who is developing the qualities of a responsible and empowered member of society.

One of the qualities I have particularly noticed in her during our History classes is her genuine willingness to understand rather than simply memorize. History requires students to examine events from different perspectives understand their causes and consequences, and reflect on how the past continues to influence the present. In class discussions and activities, she shows an openness to learning and ,engaging with these ideas. She listens to different viewpoints, participates when given the opportunity and demonstrates an eagerness to deepen her understanding of the lessons.

Her experiences during group activities and class reporting have also allowed me to see her leadership potential. She works cooperatively with her classmates and contributes to accomplishing their tasks. During reporting activities, she demonstrates confidence in presenting ideas and takes her responsibilities seriously. What stands out is her willingness to contribute to the group rather than simply depend on others. These experiences show that she can work with people, take responsibility, and .contribute toward a shared goal.

-Her commitment to serving others can also be seen through her participation in a coastal clean up activity organized by her class at the Baywalk near the port of Samal. She willingly took part in the activity, helped facilitate it and contributed her time and effort to cleaning the area and helping maintain a cleaner environment for the community. Her participation demonstrated that her sense of responsibility extends beyond the classroom and that she is willing to take action in activities that benefit the people and environment around her.

I have also observed her respectful and considerate attitude toward others. She consistently shows good manners toward her teachers and classmates. I believe that education becomes most meaningful when the lessons learned in the classroom influence how a student views and serves the world around them. In this regard, she has shown determination and a genuine willingness to learn, as well as a sense of responsibility toward the people around her. Her leadership experiences, participation in community activities, and willingness to contribute give me confidence in her potential to continue growing as a student and as a responsible member of society.

As she prepares to pursue college and higher education, financial support is important to help continue her studies and work toward her aspirations. The PCAFPD Scholarship would provide meaningful assistance in overcoming the financial challenges of pursuing higher education and would give her a greater opportunity to focus on her studies and develop her potential.

PCAFPD scholars are chosen on the basis of their financial need, academic performance, and commitment to community service and leadership. As the applicant's reference, please describe the applicant's demonstrated leadership skills, accomplishments, and impacts on your community and any other relevant information you feel the committee should know about the applicant.
