To the Scholarship Selection Committee:

It is my privilege to write this letter of recommendation in strong support of Ms. Edmhere Brigola's scholarship application. Having observed her academic journey, personal character, and leadership, I can confidently attest that she possesses the dedication, resilience, and intellectual passion necessary to excel in higher education.

She is an exemplary student whose academic performance has been consistently recognized through various awards, having graduated as her junior high school batch valedictorian and continuing to receive academic honors in senior high school. Driven by a deep passion for the social sciences, she approaches her studies with rigor, discipline, and a genuine thirst for knowledge. Beyond her academic success, her active participation in school, community, and church organizations highlights her well-rounded character. She has demonstrated exceptional leadership skills, taken on critical roles in event management, and actively contributed to creative, performing, and cultural activities—frequently representing her institution in competitions.

What makes her achievements even more remarkable is the extraordinary resilience she displays in the face of hardship. Following her father's early retirement due to health challenges and given her mother's physical disability, her family faces severe financial strain while supporting three children currently in school. Despite these formidable circumstances, she has never allowed financial or personal hardships to hinder her educational aspirations. Having previously earned a scholarship for her Junior High School education at a private institution, she continuously proves that she uses every opportunity granted to her to grow, achieve, and give back.

Rather than being discouraged by adversity, she utilizes her family's circumstances as motivation to strive for excellence. She views education not merely as a personal goal, but as a meaningful pathway to uplift her family and build a brighter future. Her unwavering work ethic, humility, and gratitude are evident in everything she undertakes.

I am fully confident that she will be a noteworthy asset to your institution and scholarship program. She possesses the determination, character, and scholastic promise to make the most of this financial assistance. I offer her my highest recommendation without reservation.

Sincerely,

Vanneza Clare M. Marmeto
